ITV BOSSES IN PANIC OVER LOVE ISLAND SEX TRICK

DANGER: Paige and Luca could end up injured!

By SUZIE SHELDON

LOVE Island fans have been warned to take care if they try and copy a kinky sex position described on the ITV2 show.

Hunky fishmonger Luca told stunna Paige that his fave position in bed was the so-called Viennese Oyster but experts have warned that the strenuous act is for the supple only and could lead to dislocated joints!

Petrol hits third high in a week

PETROL prices set a new record of 178.5p a litre on Tuesday morning, increasing by 0.6p in just 24 hours.

The price of diesel has also increased to 185.2p a litre.

It is the third time in six days that a new high has been hit.

With supply of fuel slowing down due to bottlenecks at refineries across the world, and soaring oil prices triggered by Russia's invasion of Ukraine, experts are warning that petrol prices are likely to continue increasing.

Prices at the pump have been hitting record highs every few days in recent weeks.

Last week, EU leaders agreed to cut 90% of oil imports from Russia by the end of the year.

Prices at the pump are also being driven by a shortage of petrol and diesel, both types of refined crude oil.

Fears grow for summer hols

TRAVEL agents are being inundated with calls from customers worried that their summer holidays will be disrupted as flight chaos continues.

Thousands more airline passengers saw their travel plans thrown into disarray as the sector struggles with shortages.

Julia Lo Bue-Said, chief executive of Advantage Travel Partnership, said: "About 30% of all calls are from customers that have bookings for July and August in the holidays, and they are worried."

"In the vast majority of cases flights are departing and arriving".

VIEWERS STUNNED BY SKY SOPHY'S CT!

SKY News presenter Sophy Ridge turned the airwaves blue when she called Tory leadership hopeful Jeremy Hunt... Jeremy CT.

Her blunder came as she spoke about those Conservative MPs who had publicly declared they would vote to topple the Prime Minister in Monday's confidence vote over Boris Johnson's leadership.

Ridge said: 'Two figures who are significant, Jeremy C because he's a potential leadership candidate.'

'Jesse Norman because he's worked with Boris Johnson for quite a long time.'

Former health secretary Mr Hunt is being seen as a strong contender to take over when Boris Johnson eventually falls.

But Sophy's gaffe is not the first time Mr Hunt has had his surname wrongly pronounced by both TV and radio broadcasters.

In one of the best-known incidents, BBC Radio 4 presenter Jim Naughtie slipped over Mr Hunt's name on the station's flagship Today programme in 2010.

The error was compounded later the same day when fellow BBC presenter Andrew Marr made the same mistake when introducing a debate about Naughtie's stumble on another programme.

Mad Ruskies storm out of UN session

RUSSIA'S UN ambassador has stormed out of a UN Security Council meeting after the European Council president blamed Russia's invasion of Ukraine for causing a global food crisis.

Charles Michel (above) said Russia was using food supplies as a "stealth missile" against the developing world, forcing people into poverty.

The Russian envoy Vassily Nebenzia accused Mr Michel of spreading lies.

The war has left food stuck at Ukrainian ports.

Ukraine is a large exporter of cooking oil as well as cereals such as maize and wheat.

Russia also exports vast amounts of grains as well as fertiliser.

The lack of these exports has caused the price of alternatives to soar.

Mr Michel said: "The dramatic consequences of Russia's war are spilling over across the globe, and this is driving up food prices, pushing people into poverty. Russia is solely responsible for this food crisis."

Shop sales on the slide

RETAIL sales dipped last month as consumers tightened their belts amid the cost-of-living crisis, new data has revealed.

Total retail sales decreased by 1.1% in May.

It represents a slowdown in shopping following an average growth of 0.7% over the past three months.

Like-for-like sales were down 1.5% for May compared with the same month a year earlier.

Sales figures are not adjusted for rising price inflation, meaning sales volumes are expected to show a sharper decline.

Helen Dickinson, chief executive of the British Retail Consortium, said: "Higher value items, such as furniture and electronics, took the biggest hit."

Wounded PM is dead man walking, say MPs

TOP Tories are warning that Boris Johnson's famous luck has run out and he will be forced to QUIT by early November.

The PM won a confidence vote of Tory MPs on Monday by 211 votes to 148, but the scale of the rebellion has shocked loyalists.

There is now talk of Boris being a "dead man walking".

Worse

He did WORSE than Theresa May in 2018, who also survived a confidence vote but who was forced out of office six months later after growing unrest on the back benches.

His performance was also worse than that of Mrs Thatcher in 1990's leadership poll. The legendary PM was forced to step down after backbenchers turned on her.

A top Tory said: "The PM may have won the confidence vote but make no mistake, this is a terrible result for him."

"His victory is by no means overwhelming and the legacy of mistrust and resentment will poison the party until Boris has gone."

"Unless something spectacular happens, I see him being out of office and spending more time with his families by Bonfire Night."

The warning comes as former Conservative leader Lord Hague called on Boris Johnson to quit as PM, saying he has experienced a "greater level of rejection" than any of his predecessors.

Writing in the Times, the peer said that while Johnson survived the vote, "the damage done to his premiership is severe".

Agonies

"Words have been said that cannot be retracted, reports published that cannot be erased, and votes have been cast that show a greater level of rejection than any Tory leader has ever endured and survived," he wrote.

"Deep inside, he should recognise that, and turn his mind to getting out in a way that spares party and country agonies and uncertainties."

As well as being Tory leader for four years, Lord Hague is a former foreign secretary and leader of the House of Commons.

He did not face a confidence vote while leader from 1997 to 2001, saying he "would have regarded my position as completely untenable if more than a third of my MPs had ever voted against me".

"The nature of this particular revolt makes it qualitatively as well as quantitatively devastating," he wrote.

Quizzed by reporters as he walked his dog early yesterday, Mr Johnson said: "This is a government that delivers on what the people of this country care about most."

"Today, I pledge to continue delivering on these priorities. We are on the side of hard-working British people, and we are going to get on with the job."

BROWN RAGE AT 'FOODBANK BRITAIN'

FORMER prime minister Gordon Brown has called for an end to "foodbank Britain", speaking out about nurses having to queue up for food parcels after finishing their shifts.

He told a nurses' conference that a number of health trusts have set up foodbanks within hospitals to provide food parcels for nurses and health workers, with more planned.

"Thousands of nurses report that, because of the cost-of-living crisis, they are skipping meals so they can feed their children," he told the Royal College of Nursing in Glasgow.

"I want an end to foodbank Britain by an end to poverty and low-pay Britain."

"This is not a party political issue but a humanitarian issue. A matter of common decency."

"The best way we can reward the nurses of Britain for what they did for us during the pandemic is ensuring decent wages and working conditions. Our nurses cared for us - it's time for us to care for them."

Mr Brown called for cash to tackle the shortage of nurses in the UK.

"Two years ago the NHS was deservedly awarded the George Cross for its work during the pandemic, but the reward has been pay settlements well below inflation, leaving nurses much worse off," he said.

AMANDA Holden stripped NAKED and hopped into her soapy bath in a cheeky Instagram video.

Paramount sued over Tom Cruise Top Gun sequel

THE family of the Israeli writer whose article inspired the 1986 Tom Cruise movie Top Gun is suing film studio Paramount Pictures for copyright infringement over its sequel.

Ehud Yonay's widow and son, Shosh and Yuval, claim the studio did not have the rights to his 1983 story "Top Guns" when it released the sequel Top Gun: Maverick last month.

Paramount says the claim is "without merit" and vowed to contest it.

Top Gun: Maverick sees Cruise reprise his role as US navy pilot Pete "Maverick" Mitchell (above).

The lawsuit alleges that Paramount failed to reacquire the rights to Ehud's magazine article after it was terminated under the US Copyright Act.

The family are seeking unspecified damages from the film studio.

Normal People actors 'not hurt' by porn site clips

NORMAL People director Lenny Abrahamson has said steamy scenes from the series ending up on porn websites "didn't hurt the actors".

The show had the most sex in a series ever for a BBC programme.

The series followed Marianne (Daisy Edgar-Jones) and Connell (Paul Mescal) as they fall in love, grow up and learn about sex and social dynamics during high school and college.

However, a few clips from intimate scenes, taken out of context, were distributed on porn sites.

But Abrahamson said: "I don't think any of that hurt any of the actors."

"As a production entity we were straight on it with the broadcasters and streamers to constantly have anything taken down."

"I think that's all you can do, otherwise you're letting the worst people in society determine what you can do because of how they'll construe it."

New wonder cancer drug shocks docs

A NEW colorectal cancer drug has shocked doctors with how effective it is against the disease, after it virtually cured every member of a clinical trial. Dostarlimab, a monoclonal antibody drug that is already approved to treat endometrial cancer in the UK, smashed expectations.

One year after the trial ended, each of the 18 participants' cancer had gone, with doctors unable to find signs of the cancer in their body.

While the trial was small, it is considered game-changing, and sets up the drug as a potential cure for one of the most dangerous common cancers known.

However, dostarlimab can only be used on up to a tenth of colorectal cancer patients who have a genetic mutation in their tumour, which all trial participants had.

Warning over Luca's sex trick

MEDICS have warned people to be careful if trying out a sex position described on Love Island.

Contestant Luca Bish revealed his favourite sex positions during Monday night's opener.

He chatted to Paige, making clear his attraction to her.

Paige revealed hers was the 'broken eagle' but passed on the opportunity to give him a demonstration.

She explained: "When the girl lies on the bottom, lying on my front, you know how girls sleep half bent, the other half straight, the guy doing his thing..."

Without being prompted, he replied: "My one, my favourite sex position is the oyster? Your legs are like, up in the air..."

"My head's poking through your legs, sort of thing. Might as well get to know each other quickly!"

The Brighton fishmonger was talking about a position called the Viennese Oyster.

Experts say it is all about deep penetration.

The woman lies on her back and spreads her legs up – the man grabs her ankles and pushes her legs back towards their head before slipping his erect cock into her fleshy, oyster-like SLOT.

Medics cautioned that the position requires quite a bit

DANGER: Oyster warning

Oyster position may be unsuitable for some couples, particularly those with conditions causing stiffness.

Kinksters are also warned to stop immediately if either partner feels pain.

Those watching at home were left laughing at Luca's comments.

Taking to Twitter, one viewer said: "Not Luca the fishmonger's favourite sex position being the oyster."

Kim: I'd EAT POO to look younger

By SUZIE SHELTON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

CELEBRITY babe Kim Kardashian will do whatever it takes to look younger – including eating SHIT!

"I'll try anything," the beauty and reality TV mogul told The New York Times in an interview about her new skin care line.

"If you told me that I literally had to eat poop every single day and I would look younger, I might. I just might."

The new line, SKKN by Kim, is a nine-product skin routine mirroring her own elaborate regimen – cleanser, toner, exfoliator, hyaluronic acid serum, vitamin C serum, face cream, eye cream, oil drops and night oil.

It launches next month and joins her existing makeup and shapewear lines, KKW Beauty and Skims, and the set will cost a cool £500.

Kim, 41, said she uses the products on her neck and décolletage – all the way "down to my nipples".

The New York Times clarified that, as yet, "excrement is not one of the ingredients in Ms Kardashian's new skin care line".

Last week, curvy Kim revealed how she started dating current boyfriend Pete Davidson because he was known to have a MASSIVE cock.

A fan said: "I don't know about Kim eating poo, but I'd like to watch her take a shit in a crisp packet."

"Must be quite a sight... what, with that big arse of hers."

Union raises £6k for strip clubs

A UNION representing the rights of those in the sex work industry, say they are dedicated to saving a city's strip clubs.

Edinburgh City Council recently voted to axe the capital's strip joints but the United Sex Workers union said they will fight the decision and have set up a fundraiser to help meet legal costs.

In just a few days, the fund raised £6,000 and the group hopes to achieve their target of £20,000 to fight the council's decision.

On March 31, the council voted to close the various clubs across Edinburgh – a decision said to be endangering several dancers' ability to make a living.

A "nil-cap" on Sexual Entertainment Venues means all clubs of this nature will have to close by April 2023.

IS UNDERARM HAIR THE PITS?

By SUZIE SHELTON news@sundaysport.co.ukAN OnlyFans model claims she has made more than £300,000 in two years by sharing pictures of her hairy ARMPITS.

Fenella Fox, 28, from Worcester, stopped shaving her armpits in 2017 in protest against men's expectations of her.

But while some men embrace her decision to grow out her hair others have branded her 'disgusting', 'dirty' and 'unhygienic'. She has only had sex twice in the last five years.

"I've had one make-out session since, where the guy kissed my armpit hair and said he loved female empowerment," she said.

She continued: "I've even had death threats. 'Some people have said I'll be 'single forever' and will 'never get a man'."

Sexualised

"I feel proud to raise my armpits in public."

Fenella said she was 'highly sexualised' in school because of her large breasts and was groped without consent by a classmate.

She decided to start work as a cam girl in 2014 as a way to show men they can 'look but not touch' and later joined OnlyFans.

But what do people really think about babes with hairy armpits?

ELECTION SCRAP TURNS DIRTY TOP LAWMAN: I DON'T eat children!

By BRAD CHADWICK
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A TOP prosecutor took to the airwaves to make a public statement: "I do NOT eat kids."

David Leavitt, the top prosecuting lawyer in Utah County, based in Provo, Utah, said he's been wrongly accused of cannibalism, as well as the murder of small children.

The accusation, according to him, stems from an investigation by the Utah County Sheriff, Mike Smith. And Leavitt believes the Utah County Sheriff is using his position for political gain, as both the Utah County Sheriff and the Utah County Attorney are up for re-election this year.

Leavitt has called for an independent investigation of a press release made public last week, and he said he wants an investigation into Utah County Sheriff Mike Smith as well as Smith's office.

He said he had been provided a copy of an alleged witness statement from a person he called a "tragically mentally ill woman".

Cannibalising

"And for the first time in the reportedly 15 or 20 years since the report was given, I learned that my wife and I were part of those allegations, alleging we were guilty of cannibalising children," Leavitt said.

He said the woman in question made sex abuse claims against 15 to 20 people before he was ever in office in Utah County.

That case was dismissed, he said, because the allegations were deemed not credible by a then special victim's unit.

Leavitt has called for the Utah County Sheriff as well as the Sheriff's spokesman, Sgt Spencer Cannon, to step down.

Last week the Utah County Sheriff's Office asked for the public's help in finding more victims of what the Sheriff's Office described as a ring of ritualistic child sex abusers.

PROSECUTOR:
David Leavitt

After Leavitt's comments, Utah County Sheriff Mike Smith held his own press conference, which began with Sheriff Smith reading a press release, saying: "In April of 2021, an investigation began into ritualistic child sexual abuse and child sex trafficking that occurred in Utah County. The ensuing investigation discovered that other victims had previously reported similar forms of ritualistic sexual abuse and trafficking that occurred in Utah County, Juab County, and Sanpete County during the time between 1990 and 2010. Portions of these allegations were confirmed."

"These allegations are being investigated by the Utah County Sheriff's Office in cooperation with other local and federal agencies. We are pleading with the public and encourage victims, or individuals with knowledge of these crimes, to contact the Utah County Sheriff's Office Special Victim's Unit, so that they can be offered all the assistance possible."

"Accusations that go beyond that statement are false."

"Leavitt," Sheriff Smith added, "is using his authority and his pulpit to bully, distract, and mischaracterise the facts of an ongoing investigation."

Facebook 'jobs' serial killer held

COPS have arrested a suspected serial killer accused of luring at least seven young women on Facebook with offers of false jobs.

CCTV footage shows the man meeting with the victims in public places, and in one case driving a victim away on a motorbike, officials said.

"The suspect is a serial killer of women, and there are at least seven cases of women's killings where this person could be involved," said Mexico's assistant public safety secretary Ricardo Mejía.

He added that the most recent case involved the killing a 31-year-old woman in the Gulf coast state of Veracruz after she went for a job interview last month.

The gal from the frozen north came to the rescue of softie revellers last week after heroically "bouncing" the opossum from the Brooklyn bar.

A video of the impromptu animal controller's good deed has since gone viral on Instagram.

Sara Fulton (left) said: "No-one's going to question someone from Alaska. So that's when I went up to the opossum and scruffed him and took him outside."

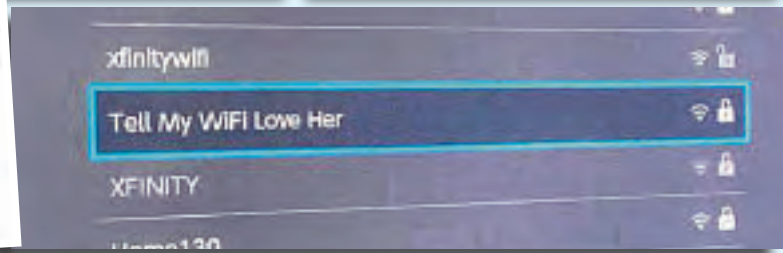

The 33-year-old added: "I grew up with moose in my backyard and I'd go camping with black bears."

"So an opossum is literally not a concern."

Robber killed six... then took a selfie!

A THUG killed six people during a botched robbery... then took a SELFIE at the scene.

Travis Birkley, 34, now faces six counts of murder.

The six victims found at a home in north Milwaukee, Wisconsin, were identified as Charles Hardy, 42; Caleb Jordan, 23; Javoni Liddell, 31; Donta "Michael" Williams, 44; Michelle Williams, 49; and Donald Smith, 43.

A witness told cops Birkley admitted to killing all six victims during a "robbery gone bad" with his cousin.

Detectives found a "selfie" that Birkley (above) allegedly took in the basement of the home, hours after the murders took place, in which he is wearing sunglasses belonging to one of the victims.

A witness also told police that they saw Birkley after the murders with cash, guns and drugs that belonged to a victim.

HOLLYWOOD hottie Brie Larson is as strong in real life as she is on-screen.

The actress, best known for playing Carol Danvers/Captain Marvel in the Marvel Cinematic Universe, regularly shares clips of her superhero training sessions with coach Jason Walsh on social media.

For her latest workout, Brie decided to try something a little different... and took a pole-dancing class.

Fit

The actress, 32, donned yoga wear and posted some photos of her progress to Twitter:

"Made an im-POLE-sive decision to try a new workout class," she wrote.

Because pole dancing these days is not restricted to a certain sort of gentleman's club.

It's recognised as a great way for ladies to keep fit.

And from the looks of the ladies in these pages, it sure is the way to a super body...

KEITH Houts was one of the good guys. He might have been a police officer, but even the people he handed traffic fines to respected his warm smile and easy-going attitude. Until, that is, Keith met one of life's bad guys – evil Mario Woodward, who riddled him with bullets for no good reason...

ONE OF LIFE'S BAD GUYS

If a person's time on earth can be judged by the strength of his funeral congregation, Keith Houts lived a rich life indeed.

Thousands lined the streets of Birmingham, Alabama, to give the 30-year-old the send-off he deserved.

A procession of some 400 cars and motorcycles, many from Keith's own Montgomery Police Department and other neighbouring forces, paid their respects.

As the local fire department stationed engines by the side of the road, the American flag hoisted high in the air on the vehicle's ladders, hundreds of residents stood above highway bridges to see his body being laid to rest.

Keith had devoted his life to helping others. He'd served in Iraq, he helped the local community through his church, he'd even met his devoted wife Ashley while serving in the forces abroad.

But despite battling terrorist insurgents in the Middle East, he hadn't banked on encountering Mario Woodward on the night of September 30, 2006.

During what was a routine traffic stop, Woodward pulled out a gun and shot Keith in the face, shattering his jaw and severing his spine.

Then, as Keith lay prone on the ground, Woodward emptied his gun into his defenceless body in a sickening act of brutal punishment.

Yet Keith still didn't know when he was beaten.

He fought for life for three days before, tragically, succumbing to his injuries.

And, as Keith lies in his cemetery resting place, Woodward now rots on Death Row, having been found guilty of murder in September 2008.

Touched

Hardest hit was Keith's widow.

Addressing Woodward in court after learning he'd be sentenced to death, Ashley revealed: "There's not a day goes by that I don't have someone come and tell me how Keith touched their life."

"You'd be surprised how many people in this community come up and say, 'He pulled over after work and changed my tyre,' or, 'He gave me a ticket but he smiled and was real nice when he did it'."

"Just different things. They say he brightened their day. This was a loss not just for our family but for the entire community."

Speaking in 2007, Ashley added: "He made me who I am today. We were only married a year and three months but we made a lifetime of memories."

"Sometimes I want to call and tell him what happened in my day, but I can't call."

"I know he holds a special place in the hearts of everyone he met."

"Women officers say he was the one who always held the door. That was Keith, he was polite."

"I know what he meant to me, but it's important to know what he meant to everyone else."

Keith Houts was always earmarked for good things. He excelled at school and won a scholarship to Troy University on the back of his 'leadership abilities'.

He studied criminal justice before joining the Army Reserves with the 926th Engineer Brigade.

It was while on active duty in Iraq and Kuwait, between 2004 and 2005, that he met Ashley.

They returned to the US and Keith joined the Montgomery Police Department.

On September 30, 2006, he was cruising around town in his police car when he crossed paths with Mario Woodward.

This was a man with an extensive criminal record that involved firearms and possession of a large quantity of marijuana.

Court documents

MONSTERS OF DEATH ROW

THE WORLD'S MOST EVIL MURDERERS AND THE HORRIFIC CRIMES THAT SAW THEM SENTENCED TO EXECUTION...

reveal: "Keith Houts was on patrol in a neighbourhood in north Montgomery and he conducted a traffic stop at approx 12.30pm."

"Shonda Lattimore testified that she was sitting on her porch when she saw a police officer begin to execute a stop on a gray Impala being driven by a black man wearing a red hat."

Gunshots

"Ms Lattimore testified that she saw the driver of the Impala reach down for something as the Impala and the police car, with its emergency lights on, passed by the end of her street, before they went out of sight."

"Soon after the cars were out of her sight, she heard four or five gunshots."

"During the traffic stop, officer Houts entered the license tag of the Impala into the mobile data terminal in his patrol car."

"His car was equipped with a video camera that recorded the events that occurred during the stop. The video recording was played for the jury."

"It showed Houts getting out of his patrol car and approaching the driver's side door of the Impala."

"Just as officer Houts reached the door, the driver of the Impala fired a gun and shot him in the jaw."

"Medical testimony established that the bullet entered officer Houts' neck and severed his spine, causing him to collapse instantly."

"The driver then reached his arm out of the vehicle and shot officer Houts four more times before fleeing the scene in the Impala."

"Though the dashboard camera captured the shooting on videotape, it did not reveal the identity of the assailant as officer Houts' patrol car was positioned behind the Impala and because his attacker did not get out of the vehicle."

Amazingly, Keith survived the shooting. But he never regained consciousness and, two

IN FRIDAY'S

BRUTAL KILLER: Mario Woodward emptied his gun as his victim lay defenceless

HORROR: Jennifer Albert was only six when Woodward shot her mother days later, he died from his extensive injuries.

Woodward fled to Alabama. The car he'd been driving – which he'd borrowed from girlfriend Tiffany Surles – was later found burned out and abandoned.

Tiffany testified that Woodward confessed the crime to her, claiming he'd simply said, 'I messed up'.

When Woodward was arrested a day later, he immediately blurted out, 'What's going on? I didn't shoot anybody' – even though he had been unprompted about any crime.

Prosecution files said: "The only inference the jury could have drawn was the reason Mr Woodward knew he was being arrested was being shooting someone was that he had, in fact, shot someone."

Woodward denied his guilt – but the weight of evidence soon started stacking up against him.

In explosive courtroom testimony, the jury was told how Woodward had a history of killing – he had pleaded guilty to manslaughter some 18 years previously following the death of Janice Albert.

Sting

She had been gunned down by Woodward in 1990, when he was just a teenager.

Janice's daughter, Jennifer – who was just six years old at the time – told the court: "I always just wanted to be in the same room as him."

"When I learned of Keith Houts' murder, I thought, 'He's gotten out and he's done it again'."

"I think he should

FATAL CALL: Judge made 'override' to turn Woodward's life sentence into death sentence have stayed in jail." But there was one more sting in the tail for Woodward.

Having been found guilty by a jury, he was initially sentenced to serve life in prison.

Judge Truman Hobbs, however, disagreed.

On September 25, 2008, he implemented what in America is called an 'override' and ordered Woodward be put to death instead.

There were scenes of jubilation when the sentence was dishd out. Keith's sister, Lori Holsomback, said: "It's just someone that you think you're going to grow old with. He's my older brother – he's 17 months older."

"Then, in just one phone call, he was taken from me."

"When Woodward was given a life sentence, that was devastating."

"It said to me that his life was more valuable than my brother's."

"But the override was like someone had stood up for my family. Someone had stood up for my brother and for the Montgomery Police Department and the state of Alabama and said, 'This isn't right, this isn't fair. He's killed more than one person. He's going to Death Row'."

District attorney Ellen Brooks said: "I'm emotional simply because justice was done today and it's been two years coming."

Keith's father took the dignified step of extending an olive branch to the killer's family, speaking of his pain for Woodward's own father, Dion.

Eddie Houts said: "I'm sorry for Mario's father. We both lost our sons."

"I know he lost his a long time ago when he chose the street."

"Because of that decision, I lost my son."

RESPECT: Police and firefighters turned out in numbers at Keith's funeral

Son chopped up his mum & put bits in the bin

MURDER CHARGE: David Hoetzlein (above) hid his mum Tomoko (below) in bins

RUBBISH: Cops at the scene

A SICKO murdered his own mother and dismembered her corpse before hiding the body parts in the BINS at their apartment block, authorities claim.

David Hoetzlein, 25, was arrested at his home in Camarillo, California, after cops found the dismembered corpse of his 62-year-old mum, Tomoko, just a few hours earlier.

Officers discovered the body parts in rubbish bins around 6.50am after receiving a call about "suspicious circumstances" at the Las Positas Apartments.

Sheriff's deputies obtained a warrant to search the pair's shared apartment.

Evidence

They found evidence there that connected David to the murder of his mother, the sheriff's office said.

Hoetzlein remains in custody on murder charges.

A neighbour said that the younger Hoetzlein "barricaded himself" in the apartment to try and evade capture before he was eventually apprehended.

He is due to appear in court charged with murder and desecration of a corpse.

Smell

A police source said: "It's kinda hot here in southern California. You put a dismembered corpse in a dumpster, it's gonna smell."

"And, by jingo, this smelled like the Devil's ass. Oh, and the flies!"

KINKY Jacqui Ryland says she gets the horn from watching other people BONK.

The naughty glamour model also confessed she's been a regular at raunchy sex parties and loves ogling the shagging as well as being watched while she's doing the dirty deed.

The 34EE stunna, from Worcester, revealed she's up for anything in the bedroom and has indulged in steamy threesomes and girl-on-girl action at the exclusive parties.

Kinky

Jacqui said: "I'm no stranger to kinky sex. I've been to a few sex parties and had some no-strings-attached fun.

"You could say I'm an exhibitionist. It's really horny watching other people have sex and having other people watch you doing it.

"The parties are really exciting because they're usually held in huge mansions down in London.

"Everyone wears a mask, so there's a bit of mystery as you don't really know who you're getting physical with.

"Not that it matters, so long as they're as turned-on and sexed-up as you are!"

JUSTIN DUNN'S ROOM 101

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Her Maj is the real deal

HUGE SHOES TO FILL: The Queen

WELL, that was a jolly nice knees-up, wasn't it?

Whether you're into the Royal Family or not, Great Britain did it again.

We rolled out the red carpet, stuck up the bunting, and had four days of celebrating who we are.

And "who we are" is a country led by the most extraordinary individual any of us will ever remember.

Queen Elizabeth II was, is, and will for hopefully a bit longer, remain the star of our show.

Unlike her hapless Prime Minister, who is clearly the opposite.

Baying, infighting Tory MPs, clearly oblivious to what else is going on around them, want Boris out.

And he probably will be, too. Even if they did fail to topple him this time, Johnson can cling on only for another year.

He's already holed below the water line.

And unless he's completely lost the plot, he knows it.

None of his problems have gone away.

We've still got to face the enormous, elephant-in-the-room bill for all the pandemic spending.

Crushing

We'll still have a crushing recession to cope with.

The anti-Brexit brigade will have their tails up – even though they're living in dreamland.

And too many people on the public payroll insist on staying at home even when the taxpayer is paying their wages.

It really is absolute chaos at No 10. Meanwhile, over at Windsor Castle, it's the exact opposite.

Her Majesty's health problems are well documented.

She's also still grieving the loss of her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh.

She's reportedly bailed out her supposed "favourite" son, Andrew after he was accused of being a nonce – which he strenuously denies.

And Harry and Meghan continue to act as if they really own the place, as if everybody else who sticks it out are the imposters.

But does the Queen look even slightly ruffled by any of this?

Sure, she's slower on her feet these days.

The walking stick tells us that. But let's not forget, she is 96 years old.

My nan was about the same age when she finally passed away.

And I can tell you now, in nan's final years, she wasn't filming comedy sketches about marmalade sandwiches with Paddington Bear.

Nor was she opening her house up to self-indulgent rock stars for a concert.

But like the duck with his legs invisibly busy below the surface, the Queen glides on, and on, and on.

While at the other end of the scale, the PM flounders like a landed fish.

Yet even in the middle of all the madness, we managed to have a proper jubilee celebration.

Whether that meant lining up with the crowds along The Mall, or four days on the grog, was up to you.

But we did it anyway.

Whispers

Still came the whispers that once the Queen departs this world, it's "time's up" for the monarchy.

Those whispers may well be right.

But only because of one inarguable fact.

Queen Elizabeth may well be relatively small in stature.

But she will leave the biggest pair of shoes to fill.

Prime Ministers come and go.

She doesn't.

All hail Her Majesty.

For all of us, she's the real deal.

#MY SEX FANTASY

'I'm desperate to have two guys at the same time'

...WITH
VENERA ISABELLA
34GG FROM
COLCHESTER,
ESSEX

MY wildest sexual fantasy is have a threesome with two men!

I'd love to feel two sets of hands and two tongues on me. That would feel so sensual. And two cocks is double the fun!

I love being the centre of attention. It would be such a thrill to have two men devour me.

I imagine we are sitting on a sofa with me firmly in the middle of the hunky guys.

The two blokes rub between my legs and kiss me and caress my boobs while I perform a double hand job.

Next I push my legs apart and one guy kneels on the floor between them and eats me out while I suck the other guy's cock.

At some point we've got to fit in me on my knees giving a double blowjob.

And of course there's the classic 'spit roast' position when the woman is penetrated from behind while giving the other guy a blowjob!

I'm so turned on talking about this. I need a threesome right now!

OAP held for surfer shop plop

A SURF accessories shop had quite a mess to clean up after a man defecated on its floor and used a shirt to wipe up his filth.

Police in Treasure Island, Florida, said Gary Bush, 69 (above), walked into the Surf Style shop, exposed his genitalia and proceeded to defecate on the floor near a dressing room.

Witnesses told cops Bush also wiped himself with a shirt belonging to the store, creating a dangerous biohazard out of the surfing garment.

Bush, who was held later in the day after he was recognised by the store manager, told officers: "I was at the store earlier to get clothes. I returned to the store to get more clothes. I bought an outfit."

He is now facing charges of criminal mischief and exposure of sexual organs.

A police source said: "So far we have no motive for his actions. "But what kind of motive do you need for a filthy act like this?"

Fact me!

THERE are more living organisms in a teaspoonful of soil than there are people on Earth.

Lovers' tiff leads to £4m damages

A MAN broke into a museum and destroyed more than £4million worth of ancient, irreplaceable art pieces because he "got mad at his girlfriend".

Brian Hernandez, 21, decided to take his anger out by breaking and entering into the Dallas Museum of Art, in Texas, and smashing several valuable vessels, bowls and figurines.

Hernandez used a metal chair to smash the glass entrance to the museum, and once inside, he used a stool to destroy the rare and irreplaceable art pieces, police said.

He told museum guards who later found him with the destroyed items that he "got mad at his girl so he broke in and started destroying property".

When officers arrived, they arrested Hernandez for criminal mischief.

The Dallas Museum of Art is still in the process of assessing the total extent of the damages.

Stars of new BBC show are TOPLESS

By SUZIE SHELTON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

WOMEN really enjoy those daft romantic novels all about love and friendship and feelings and shit.

Whereas we blokes like stuff with guns and spaceships, our ladyfolk love to curl up reading about soppy bollocks.

While stuffing their faces with chocolate, usually.

One of the favourite recent books from this genre is Dolly Alderton's Everything I Know About Love.

Dolly's memoir follows her own daunting move to London in her early twenties.

Readers are taken into the world of best friends Maggie and Birdy (inspired by Dolly and her own best friend).

They've been inseparable since they first sat next to each other at school, but their friendship is tested for the first time when chronically single Birdy gets a boyfriend.

Naturally, it's the sort of thing telly bosses love, because they know everyone that has read the book will tune in – and the script is pretty much written already.

So the BBC have adapted Everything I Know About Love – and the chicks are lapping it up.

And both its female stars have appeared topless in previous roles!

This is the sort of chick lit even us blokes can enjoy...

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

Dear Lexi,

I FEEL really guilty because I've recently been boning my son's pretty girlfriend.
They're both 19, and I'm 44. I pulled her after a night in the pub back in February and can't get enough of it!
She says she loves older men and is up for everything, even meeting up discreetly during the lockdown.
She's got long, blonde hair, a cracking body and 32D tits.
We usually do it in the back of my van when I've pretended to go off on a job while actually I haven't been able to do any work.
She loves it when I spank her with my belt and take her up the arse.
The problem is that it's not just lust with her anymore. I'm starting to fall for her.
It's probably because my wife is a hatchet-faced nagging old cow. What should I do?

LS, Essex

Lexi says...

I THINK it would be wise to end this affair as it's far too close to home and will end badly.

Dear Lexi,

I'M a mechanic and I've been working through most of the lockdown doing MoTs and essential services.
The other day, when the boss was away, a flash sports car pulled up in the yard and out stepped a stunning young blonde - all big hair and even bigger tits, which she revealed in a very low-cut top.
I was wearing a mask and we were social distancing but I gave her plenty of chat-up and soon we'd forgotten all about the government advice and were at it like rabbits over the boss's desk.
I took her front, back and even up the shitter before she gobbled me off, swallowing the lot.
But the trouble is I later found out that she's the boss's daughter and I'm bricking it, thinking that if he finds out I've boned his girl he'll sack me.
What should I do?

JL, Wiltshire

Lexi says...

RELAX, I don't think she'd let him sk you!

There's no need to count my spunky fella's sperm

Dear Lexi,

I'VE read that blokes these days have got a low sperm count and that even the fluid the sperm is in is in short supply.
Well, I don't know where they did their research, but they should check out my fella - when it comes to shooting out a load then my man is the best.
Giving him oral is a treat. I always look forward to getting my lips round his cock.
He lasts one hell of a long time and when he does finally shoot his load then there's no shortage - the thick jizz seems to spurt from him for ages.
I have loads of orgasms as it smother my face and have even more when I use my fingers and wipe the creamy stuff from my face and then give my fingers a good sucking.

Then, of course, it's his turn for some tongue action and he spreads my thighs wide while I pull my pussy lips apart for him.
He laps at my aching quim while I diddle my hard little love-button to further shattering orgasms.
This gives him time to get his strength back and soon he's on top of me, pumping that fine tool deep and hard inside me until he comes all over again.
So I say the researchers have it all wrong.
What do you say?
FJ, south-east London

Lexi says...
I AGREE. And I wonder who did the counting. That must have been some job to get!

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week LEXI LOWE has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

Village hooker plans to grass on me to missus!

Dear Lexi,

THERE had been a bit of a rumour going around our small village about a newly-arrived single woman who'd moved to the area

This would have been around January time and the story in the local pub was that she used to work in a massage parlour somewhere in the city and was more than happy to turn a few tricks. It got me thinking that I'd like to get to the bottom of the rumours – and the bottom of her, too!

Sick

She's a very elegant lady in her late 30s, who I'd seen out and about when she was walking her dogs up and down the village during the day.

So after the missus went to work one day soon after, I cried off work sick. Then, disguising myself as best as possible, I went round to this woman's place.

Luckily, it was set back from the road and I could approach it from behind some bushes so no-one could spot me – word travels fast round a village!

Anyway, I rang the doorbell. I know it was right out of order but somehow I was determined to find out if she had been, or still was, a hooker.

But to my surprise the door was answered not by her but by an older fella, who let me in and showed me into a downstairs room which was kitted out like a waiting room!

And to my even greater surprise there were three other fellas sitting around reading magazines and giving each other furtive looks – and they grinned when they saw me, feeling a little less guilty in their actions, since we all knew each other to certain degree.

The old guy told me to take an empty chair and that I could wait to see "Rose" – she'd be "done soon".

So I waited while, one after the other, the other men in this makeshift waiting room popped into the room next door and all eventually came out with big smiles on their faces.

When it was my turn I opened the door of the room next door and there she was, spread-eagled on the bed, totally naked.

I didn't fancy sex as I guessed that she'd just had several lengths of cock spewing their load inside her, so I pulled out my stiff Johnson and, with her nod of agreement, masturbated to completion all over her massive tits.

And it only cost me £20.

Since then I've been back a few times, even in defiance of the lockdown, but it seems the rest of village's women have found out what she's up to and want to kick her out!

And it's my missus that is organising the petition!

But "Rose" told me if I signed it she'd tell my wife what I've been up to! Help!

RT, via email

Lexi says...

CAN'T help you. You've made your bed, etc...

Dear Lexi,

MY wife has turned into a slave driver both inside and outside the bedroom.

I'm furloughed so she leaves me a list of duties to do during the day.

She also gives me sexual "duties" to perform both before and after work.

For instance, I get up at 6.30am and wake her by giving her oral sex.

This always starts with me fondling her vagina before going to work on her clitoris with my tongue.

Then I run her a bath, help her into her work clothes and even polish and put her shoes on her feet.

When she comes home I take off all her clothes and serve her a meal.

Once she's finished I have to strip off and lie on the floor at the foot of her chair and she uses my back as a foot stool while watching her favourite soap on the box.

I have to finger her during the adverts then I lie on my back while she massages my cock with her feet.

To be honest I'm a bit knackered by it all and sometimes just want to watch Coronation Street in peace.

Any suggestions?

C-J, Kent

Lexi says...

COME on, I bet you love it really. What would you do if she was too tired for sex, like most women after work?

I fear I'll pay for free escort fling!

Dear Lexi,

AS a sales rep for a big company I used to spend a lot of time on the road – and too many nights away from my missus.

I always stayed in decent hotels and until recently I had never cheated on her.

But the other month I got talking to a sophisticated blonde, flashing just the right amount of cleavage at the hotel bar.

We had a few drinks and got on so well we ended up in my room – after she suggested we take a bottle of wine upstairs with us to "carry on chatting".

But after she poured us both just one small glass of vino, she was on me like a rat up a drainpipe!

She had clearly done this sort of caper before and took the lead.

First she peeled off her top to let me tweak her stiff nipples.

Then I slipped my hand inside her wet panties and she pulled out my throbbing cock.

Next we went over to the bed and I slipped her damp knickers down, stuffing my tongue up her dripping minge as I did.

Then she grabbed my pulsating whanger, bent over and guided me into her love-box from behind. I banged front and back before shooting my wad over her arse.

After she left, though, I found her business card – and noticed she works for an escort agency.

So not only did I cheat on the wife but I did it with an escort – who didn't charge me!

What's that all about?

DF, East Sussex

Lexi says...

PUT it down as a freebie and treat your wife to a nice night out on the money that you saved yourself.

LET'S GET QUIZICAL!

#HOT'N'HORNY

SEXY Lily Rose has a real thing for her namesake Lily Allen and would love to get up close and personal with the Smile singer.

The 32D beauty, from Brighton, said: "I don't know what it is about Lily but I find her really sexy."

"I think I'd like the contrast in our boobs. Mine are a D cup and hers look an A or a B."

"I'd love to feel her nipples rubbing against mine."

IT'S finally time to say goodbye to the creepy Crawleys of Downton Abbey and hello to the horny hotties of buxom Bottomley Manor!

For all you red-blooded fellas who love your porn but are bored to tears by dull Downton Abbey this is your lucky day.

Released last week, the UK's most highly anticipated adult movie is available exclusively through the Sport's adult partner Private Shops and, for a limited time they're offering readers another £5 OFF the already low, low price.

Down On Abby is a big budget, full length adult masterpiece starring porn legend Ben Dover and a cast of the hottest adult stars around. It will transport you to Bottomley Manor, home to the Lord Grabhem (played by Ben Dover), his wife (and 2014 AVN nominee) Jasmine Jae, and their two young promiscuous step-daughters, Abby and Fanny.

The Grabhems have invited the Stiffies to dinner and their staff, led by butler Smallc and footman Master Bates, hurriedly prepare to receive their honoured guests.

But during preparations some members of staff have their own ideas of how to make the night go with a bang! As dinner approaches it seems everyone's got more than fancy nosh on their minds. Mind you, there is plenty of nosh as well as lots of other filth that will even cause a crease in Carson's keks.

We see plenty of R18 DVDs at the Sport but this one is really something special and one you MUST not miss!

This future classic stars Ava Dalush as Missy, Cathy Heaven as Lucy, Emma Leigh as Betty, Jasmine Jae as Lady Wanda Grabhem, Jasmine James as Fanny Grabhem, Jess West as Lady Stiffie, Lexi Lowe as Abby Grabhem, Ben Dover as Lord Will Grabhem, Big Bad Dave as Smithers and Clarke Kent as Master Bates.

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

WELCOME to interactive Midweek Sport – where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request@sunday-sport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

VICTORIA BLAZE

PARK ranger Nigel McIntosh has his eyes on red-hot Victoria Blaze.

The 46-year-old green-fingered fella, from Inverness, trims bushes for a living but would love a sneak a peek at what Hull loveleily Victoria has to offer.

Nigel said: "I often get lost in those 34Cs while ogling her topless pics – she's bloomin' gorgeous."

"My job involves looking after the parks in Inverness and I'm often alone in them at night."

"It'd be amazing if Victoria joined me one evening!"

LINDA LUSARDI

TOPLESS legend Linda Lusardi is the all-time fave glamour girl of Dale Walton's dreams and his garden shed is littered with pics of the beauty.

Dale, from Rhyl, North Wales, is a retired office manager and likes to decorate his private workspace with snaps of Linda.

Dale, 67, said he loves Linda's 36Cs, adding: "She's everything I like in a girl – brown hair, lovely smile and gorgeous boobs, too."

MIDWEEK Sport
ALWAYS HOME OF TOPLESS BABES

GAYNOR GOODMAN

CHEF Peter Noone describes gorgeous Gaynor Goodman as his ideal girl and said he would love nothing more than to wine and dine the glamour babe.

Peter, 51, from Southend, said he'd whip up a menu packed with aphrodisiacs in the hope of wooing the classic model.

Gaynor, from Highgate, north London boasts perky 32Cs which Peter can't enough of.

He said: "Her curves are simply stunning."

"I'd cook her oysters and provide a nice glass of red wine to get our juices really flowing..."

Elsals can get the job done

ELSALS looks on an appealing mark as he sets out in the handicap sphere at Haydock.

A 140,000 guineas purchase by Kevin Philippart de Foy last autumn, Elsals had shown promise in one juvenile outing for Richard Hannon before being sent to the sales as part of the Shadwell cutbacks.

Connections would surely have had high hopes on his initial run at Lingfield but he could finish only fifth as an odds-on shot, prompting his trainer to geld him – a decision that seemingly paid dividends last time.

Upward

Lining up on the Lingfield turf, Elsals made all over seven furlongs, looking decent value for the official margin of two and a quarter lengths in the process.

The handicapper has given him an initial perch of 78 and that could prove good value in the Join Racing TV Now Handicap.

Reel Rosie can keep on her current upward curve in the racingtv.com Fillies Handicap.

By MIKE FRANCIS

Second to Gatecrasher Girl first time up – form that now longs pretty strong with that horse now three from three for the year – Reel Rosie went one better at Newmarket when seeing off Convection by a comfortable four lengths, with that rival having been just under two lengths behind in third previously at Nottingham.

Reel Rosie has been hiked 9lb for that victory, but given she will be having just her fifth career start here, there is reason to hope there is a fair bit left in the locker yet.

Changing Colours can initiate a double for Charlie Appleby in the British Stallion Studs EBF Novice Stakes. He was beaten just a neck on his racecourse debut at Yarmouth and could well have won had he not jumped a path early on and ran very green at certain points.

The experience should not be lost on him, with similar comments applying to Courageous Knight in the Marie Foran Ascil And Past Members Novice Stakes.

He started over six furlongs at Nottingham but was keeping on all the way in fourth, suggesting this swift move up to seven should be to his benefit.

Sticking with the Godolphin theme, Secret Moment can hit the target for Saeed bin Suroor in Kempton's Try Our New Price Boosts At Unibet Handicap.

A winner at the backend of last year, Secret Moment bumped into the admirable Whittle Le Woods on his return in April with that race-fit rival having his measure by half a length.

Compensation surely now awaits.

Sparkle

State Secretary outran his 25-1 odds to finish fourth at Yarmouth and will try to step up on that in the Happy 60th Birthday Karen Yallop Handicap back at the seaside.

Chookie Dunedin should not find a 4lb rise for a recent Ayr win beyond him as he lines up in the Sparkle And Shine Christmas Party Nights Handicap at Hamilton, while Good News can prove to be just that for his supporters in Fontwell's Download The At The Races App Handicap Hurdle.

HOME: Raducanu

Emma happy to be back in Notts

TENNIS

EMMA Raducanu admits things have been a bit "surreal" over the last 12 months as she returns to the scene where it all began in Nottingham this week.

The teenager, fresh from completing her A Levels, made her debut WTA Tour appearance this time last year and no one could have predicted what was to happen in the following months.

After introducing herself to the nation with a run to the fourth round at Wimbledon, she became a global star when she made history by winning the US Open in September.

When she lost that first-round match to Harriet Dart last June only people involved in British tennis knew of her, but now she returns to the midlands city to compete in the Rothmans Open a household name.

Journey Asked if she could have imagined what was in store for her, she replied: "Definitely not, it was my first WTA Tour tournament so to come back 12 months later full circle knowing what happened is pretty surreal.

"It is where it started over for me and I am proud of what I have achieved over the last 12 months.

"It signifies the start of a journey for me. It wasn't the most positive week results wise but I learned a lot and it definitely set me in good stead for the rest of the season. I felt I built on that every single week.

"I came back to Nottingham a week after for another tournament and that's when I was told I had received my Wimbledon wild card.

"I was really pleased about that so it really does bring back some great memories."

"I am not being so hard on myself and I am really, really enjoying my time right now and also believing in the work I am doing day in, day out," she added.

BRISTOL prop Kyle Sinckler is set to miss England's tour of Australia due to a back injury.

Sinckler has not played since Bristol were eliminated from the Heineken Champions Cup by Sale in mid-April.

While his injury will not require surgery, it is thought the focus this summer will be on rest and rehabilitation before next season as Bristol continue managing his recovery.

The 29-year-old, who has won more than 50 caps, made his Test debut in 2016 and has proved a key figure during England head coach Eddie Jones' reign.

He was not named by Jones in a 35-man England squad for a three-day training camp this week.

Jones has already lost Sale centre Manu Tuilagi

RUGBY UNION

(knee) and Exeter back-row forward Sam Simmonds (hip) from his Australia tour plans.

England tackle the Wallabies in Perth on July 2, then in Brisbane seven days later and finally Sydney on July 16.

And with the Premiership play-offs and final still to take place, Jones will be keeping his fingers crossed for no further setbacks.

Wings Jonny May and Jack Nowell, meanwhile, are included for the three-day gathering in Teddington.

May made his comeback for Gloucester on Saturday, featuring as a second-half substitute after five months out recovering from a knee injury.

Nowell, who broke his arm during England's Guinness Six Nations defeat against France in March, also returned for Exeter during the final round of regular season Gallagher Premiership action.

There are first involvements in a senior England camp for Biyi Alo, Charlie Atkinson, Freddie Clarke, Sam Jeffries and Namibia-born Exeter prop Patrick Schickerling.

Players from Premiership semi-finalists Leicester, Saracens, Harlequins and Northampton were not considered for selection.

The list of uncapped players also includes Wasps back Paolo Odogwu and Bath centre Max Ojomoh.

Exeter hooker Luke Cowan-Dickie and Bath wing Anthony Watson will attend the camp to undertake rehab work as they continue to recover from injuries.

Jones said: "With a number of players unavailable because of the Premiership semi-finals, we've got the opportunity to call up some new players."

"It's a great opportunity to learn about them and see what potential they have to play a part in the Australia tour."

May missed this season's entire Six Nations campaign, as did Exeter lock Jonny Hill, who is also included.

Hill has not played since early January due to a stress fracture of his lower leg.

Elsewhere, exciting London Irish back Henry Arundell earns another chance to impress as Jones runs the rule over players ahead of the trip Down Under.

MILNER: YOU AIN'T SEEN NOTHING YET

MIDFIELDER James Milner's belief he can still contribute to Liverpool's success convinced him to sign a new 12-month contract.

The 36-year-old's existing deal was due to expire at the end of the month and the fact he is understood to have agreed to reduced personal terms shows how important remaining at Anfield was to him.

A significant factor was manager Jurgen Klopp's desire to retain the services of a player who has such a huge influence on the dressing room.

"I have never taken playing for this club for granted and I never will," Milner, who is set to play in a 20th consecutive Premier League campaign next season, said.

"An overriding feeling for me – and a vitally important one in the process – was the belief I can still contribute to the team.

"The gaffer was clear what he thought and that was a big factor in me extending my contract.

"As long as I can still play my part, that's not something easy to walk away from."

Milner made 39 appearances last season, although only 14 were starts, but there was little negotiation needed with the midfielder, who chose to wait until the end of an epic 63-game season which culminated in defeat to Real Madrid in the Champions League final just over a week ago before making his decision.

He is believed to have turned down offers from at least one Premier League club and two from overseas in order to stay at Anfield.

Since joining from Man City, where he won two titles, two FA Cups and a League Cup, in 2015 Milner has won the Champions League, Premier League, Club World Cup, Super Cup and, this year, a domestic cup double.

"Last season was extraordinary, even though it didn't have the ending we hoped it would, but I think that will only make us even hungrier for success, to be honest," added Milner, who was awarded an MBE in the Jubilee Honours. "I felt that after the parade and that played a part in my decision-making also. It's a unique club.

Contracts

"Now this is signed, I'm already looking forward to getting back with everyone, refocusing and going again. It's a brilliant dressing room to be part of."

Five players – Mo Salah, Sadio Mane, Roberto Firmino, Naby Keita and Alex Oxlade-Chamberlain – are entering the final 12 months of their contracts.

Talks have dragged on with Salah, Mane is attracting interest from Bayern Munich.

Liverpool will not allow the 30-year-old Senegal international, who scored 23 goals this season, to leave unless it is for a fee in excess of £25million, and they have a suitable replacement lined up.

Mane has yet to make his intentions clear but Bayern are looking for a replacement for Robert Lewandowski, who is likely to leave this summer.

PAGE OUT TO WRITE HISTORY

By ANDY MILLOM

ROBERT Page has warned Wales' World Cup rivals that they are not going to Qatar to make up the numbers.

Wales booked their spot alongside England, the United States and Iran in Group B by beating Ukraine 1-0 in Sunday's World Cup play-off final in Cardiff.

Victory secured their first appearance at a World Cup since 1958, but Wales showed at Euro 2016 – by reaching the semi-finals – that they can punch well above their weight in major tournaments.

"We'll show them the respect they deserve but we're not fearful of anybody," Wales manager Page said.

"We've got that confidence to go into any game.

"We know we've got big players that can hurt teams and win games of football.

"Looking at the group, they're winnable games and anything can happen in a local derby, albeit in Qatar."

Wales will start out against the United States on the first day of the tournament on November 21.

They will then play Iran on November 25 before meeting England four days later.

"We've played against the USA, we know they're a really strong outfit," said Page, whose Wales side drew 0-0 with them at Swansea in November 2020.

"We played against their European-based players. It was my first game in charge actually.

"We'll go toe-to-toe with anybody. That's the attitude we've got. Bring it on."

World Cup qualification is set to boost the Football Association of Wales' coffers by at least £10million.

ITV said its coverage of the play-off final peaked with 4.6 million viewers.

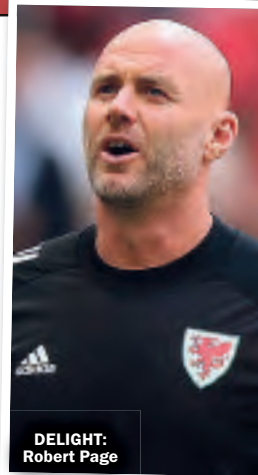

Page also believes that qualifying for Qatar will take the profile of football to new levels in Wales "We've seen the tides turn slightly with regards to football and rugby," Page said of Wales, who with its three million population is the smallest nation to qualify for the World Cup in November.

"When I was growing up in the Rhondda, rugby was the thing to do, not football.

"But I think the tides have turned now and football has become our number one sport.

"We'll always be known for rugby, of course we will, but this is massive. This is monumental what we have done in qualifying for a World Cup."

Naismith: Scots are over World Cup woes

STEVEN Naismith is confident Scotland will have banished their World Cup heartache in time for the beginning of their Nations League campaign this week.

Steve Clarke and his players were left dejected as their play-off defeat at home to Ukraine cost them the chance of going to Qatar later this year.

Coach Naismith believes the Scots will be ready to get back into action when they host Armenia on Wednesday before travelling to Dublin to face Ireland on Saturday.

"It was difficult to lift the mood, more so in the days straight after the game," said Naismith. "It was a big disappointment for fans, staff, players, everybody but nobody will have been hurting more than the players."

"The expectation they put on themselves is big and then to not hit the heights of what they can do is the biggest thing they've been feeling."

"With having the time between the games, there was a bit of down time to let the boys go and shake that off by doing whatever they like doing and then get back focused for what is a new campaign."

"We've probably seen the results of that in the last couple of training sessions. It's been much better than where it was after the Ukraine game."

Naismith admits the blow of not making the World Cup has been particularly keenly felt because expectations have soared in the Scotland camp since they qualified for Euro 2020 and then embarked on a stirring six-game winning streak at the end of 2021.

"You didn't need to walk in the changing room and say anything," said Naismith. "Every one of them understood they'd let a very good opportunity go."

"We've had a setback but the good thing is we've got three games in quick succession where we can still leave this camp on a positive knowing what a good Nations League campaign can bring at the end of it."

CITY STOPPER GIVES HIS SUPPORT

STONES: HARRY IS A ROCK!

Under-fire Maguire still the right man for England says his partner

JOHN Stones has praised the way England team-mate Harry Maguire has dealt with stinging criticism of his performances.

Man United captain Maguire was jeered by Three Lions fans ahead of the March friendly victories over Switzerland and Ivory Coast and has struggled for club form in recent months.

Maguire has spoken of his "shock" at the backlash but insisted it would not affect his relationship with England fans.

Stones and Maguire played together in the heart of Gareth Southgate's defence as England reached the 2018 World Cup semi-finals and the Euro 2020 final.

Despite Stones plying his trade across the divide for Premier League champions City, the pair are close.

"I think some of the criticism that

By PAUL THOMAS

I've seen personally and over this season has been harsh," Stones said.

"I don't want to get into that but I think how he's conducted himself on and off the pitch, he should be extremely proud of that and, all I can say is, I enjoy playing with Harry and I hope that we can do for many more years to come."

"I used to play against Harry as a kid and I knew his quality then. I think he was the age group older than me but I got the opportunity to play against him and it took quite a few years to be able to play with him here."

"I think we hit off straight away, he is an incredible person off the pitch, first and foremost, and an incredible partner and player to play with on the pitch."

"So I hope we can keep playing together and building this partnership, whoever it may be, in a back three or back four."

Stones is now a veteran of 56 caps while Maguire has 43, with both often favoured by Southgate even if they are out of form or out of their club sides.

Former Everton player Stones believes he and fellow Yorkshireman Maguire complement each other well and outlined their typical pre-game approach.

Improve

"I'd like to think so," he replied when asked if he thinks the duo make each other comfortable on the pitch.

"I'm sure Harry would say the same thing, the feeling is definitely mutual and we've always got things to improve on, that's a given."

"We know that we can improve as individuals and me and Harry are always talking about, when we do play together, what opposition we're up against."

"What kind of striker we're up against and how we can build up better with the ball, how we can defend better, what decisions to make if people run in behind and I think that's the beauty of it – how he speaks about the game and speaks about his ideas or thoughts."

"It's not always easy and we do argue on the pitch sometimes but I think, with our relationship, that's the right thing to do sometimes."

"If I can't take a dig off him on a pitch and if he can't do off me then I don't think we should be playing together. That sums it up really."

Southgate expects to face a team "inspired to another level" when England meet Wales at the World Cup later this year.

Wales ended a 64-year wait to reach the finals on Sunday when beating Ukraine 1-0 in a tense play-off in Cardiff.

RT TO UNITED CENTRE-BACK

Their reward is a place in Group B in Qatar, where they will play the United States and Iran before facing old foes England on November 29.

Three Lions boss Southgate did not watch the play-off as he was preparing for Tuesday's Nations League match in Germany but knows a tough challenge awaits.

Scouting

"I think some of the players were watching but of course an all-British game, so there's that element to it," he said.

"Firstly, congratulations to Robert Page because he's done a super job.

"I've met him several times on the road scouting games, so I'm pleased for him that he's got through that.

"Obviously our thoughts are with Ukraine as well because of what they've been through. They gave a phenomenal display in Scotland.

"You did wonder whether it was going to be possible to hit that emotional high again. It looked as though, watching it back, Wayne Hennessey made some good saves.

"We play Wales but for us that's a long way down the track."

Put to Southgate that Wales will raise their game against England, he said: "There is history there, so we would be stupid not to be aware of that and not informed of that.

"You play a team that are inspired to another level. That's what we had against Scotland in the Euros and I don't see that being any different with Wales, who also have some very good players.

"They are where they are, they've had big results over a long period of time, not least a good run in the Euros as well, so that's going to be tough for us when it comes around."

BALE OF THE CENTURY

Dozen clubs chasing Gareth's signature

AS many as TWELVE clubs want to sign Gareth Bale.

The Welsh wonder is available on a free transfer after leaving Real Madrid with a haul of FIVE Champions League medals.

He would have probably retired had his Wales side not qualified for the World Cup in Qatar.

By JOHN ANTHONY

But now the Dragons have made it, Bale needs to keep himself fit for the tournament which kicks off in late November.

But one the teams NOT in the running are his former club Tottenham.

Bale had a spell back with the Londoners last season but it won't be happening again.

Other Premier League sides are in the hunt though with Newcastle hoping to use him to attract other big names to St James's Park.

But the smart money is on Bale making an emotional homecoming at Cardiff City.

The 32-year-old was born in the Welsh capital but has never pulled on a Bluebirds shirt.

His agent has said several times that the final move of Bale's career won't be about money.

Bale could sign for Cardiff knowing he'd call the shots about when to play and not to play as he counts down to his first World Cup appearance.
